

Your target market is every correctional officer, nurse, doctor, firefighter and other staff members of the correctional facilities you are assigned to work with.

Think about it.

Out of every 100 public employees with retirement programs, 95% on them care about their financial futures, and 90% of those actually think they should trust their family's financial security to their state run retirement programs... which happens to be the worst thing they could do.

They need real information so they can make qualified financial decisions.

The presentation script we teach you helps you educate them on a better way to secure their family's financial future.

The more clients you can place yourself in front of, the more clients you can educate and properly protect.

You must personally talk to every employee you can, so you can begin to educate them.
