

Be aware when calling to set up your appointments that if you are calling to a CO, they tend to work a lot of overtime and are not always available to answer or return phone calls.

Be persistent and with each voice mail be a little more direct, let them know that you appreciate their time and know it's valuable, but that your time is very valuable as well.